Hikes / Walks

- Catawba Falls Trail – 3 mi RT (or 3.5-mi loop), moderate. Leads to a 100-ft cascade in Pisgah NF; lower trail and new footbridges are open, but the upper-falls platform/Wildflower spur remain closed for repairs.
- Daniel Ridge Loop Trail – 4-mi moderate loop near Brevard with the 150-ft Daniel Ridge Falls (aka Tom's Spring Falls); trail is fully open post-Helene.
- Moore Cove Falls Trail – 1.4-mi easy out-and-back in Pisgah, ending at a 50-ft falls you can walk behind; reopened and considered family-friendly.
- Rainbow Falls Trail (Gorges State Park) – 2.5-mi moderate RT to a 125-ft free-fall waterfall; the park and trail reopened on Nov 1 and are now open.
- Graveyard Fields Loop (Lower & Upper Falls) – 3.5-mi moderate loop off the Blue Ridge Parkway with two waterfalls, high-elevation meadows, and summer blueberries; trailhead is open, but some Parkway sections closer to Asheville remain closed, so check detours.
- Glassy Mountain Trail (Carl Sandburg Home NHS) – 1.3 mi one-way (2.6 mi RT), moderately steep; climbs from the historic farm to sweeping summit views. The site's trail network has reopened.
- Asheville Botanical Gardens Loop – 0.5-mi easy urban loop showcasing native plants and a creek; garden trails reopened after Helene, though some cleanup continues.

Arts & Crafts

- Explore the River Arts District – wander working studios, watch pottery or "make-your-own" glass ornaments at the North Carolina Glass Center.
- Folk Art Center (Southern Highland Craft Guild) – browse galleries of Appalachian craft and catch free daily artist demonstrations on the Blue Ridge Parkway (open 10 a.m.–5 p.m.).

Scenic Drives & Viewpoints

- Blue Ridge Parkway drive (US-276 ↔ NC-151 segment) – a crowd-light stretch reopened after Helene; gives access to overlooks such as Graveyard Fields and Black Balsam.

History

- Carl Sandburg Home National Historic Site – tour the poet’s farmhouse, visit the goat farm, or stroll the gentle Glassy Mountain path; most grounds reopened in December 2024.
- Thomas Wolfe Memorial – guided house museum downtown; listed by NC DNCR as OPEN for visitors during recovery.
